3.5 Independent Directors

- (a) The need for access to supporting equity and skills as required, and a flexible cost structure are greater imperatives for the Company as an exploration company, than the largely mutually exclusive concept of independence, which is much more relevant to larger corporations with substantial workforces.
- (b) However, as the Company moves to become a metals producer the concept of independence may become more relevant. Whilst the Company will progressively increase the independence of its Directors over time, compliance with the best practice in this area is not considered a current imperative, due to the additional direct cost of employing such Directors, the view that there would not be an increase in Board skills (only independence), and the risk that inefficiency will occur in the Board decision making process whilst the independent Directors become familiar with the company's business.
- (c) All assessments as to whether a Director is independent shall be made by the Board who shall consider that an independent Director is a non-executive director who also:
 - (i) Is not a substantial shareholder of the Company or an officer of, or otherwise associated directly with, a substantial shareholder of the company;
 - (ii) Within the last 3 years has not been employed in an executive capacity by the Company or another group member, or been a director after ceasing to hold any such employment;

 - (iv) Is not a material supplier or customer of the Company or other group member, or an officer of or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with a material supplier or customer;
 - (v) Has no material contractual relationship with the Company or another group member other than as a director of the company;
 - (vi) Has not served on the Board for a period that could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company; and
 - (vii) Is free from any interest and any business or other relationship that could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the company.
- (d) Given the assessment criteria detailed in section 3.5 (c) above, the Board considers that Mr Peter Huljich and Mr Jerry Monzu are Independent Directors.

3.6 Role of Non-executive Directors Collectively:

Non-executive Directors collectively should:

 - (iii) Provide access to Company material as required for proper purposes.
- (b) Unless the Board otherwise determines, it is intended that each new Director will enter into a similar deed with the Company.
